CONCESSIONS OR STRIKE, "L" ENGINEERS' DECISION.

Deputy Chief Youngson Believes George Gould Will Yield—Firemen and Telegraphers Have Grievances and Will Stand by Engineers—Secret Conferences Held To-Day.

BY A. B. YOUNGSON.

Deputy Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. There is no call for worry on the part of the people of New York about a strike on the "L." If my understanding of George Gould is right.

I worked in an engine cab for twenty-three years on a Gould system railroad and I never found the Gould family anything but square.

I believe that George Gould, when the grievances of the engineers are brought to his attention, will do the right thing.

There is no economic ground for wanting to pay the engineers less money. Nine hours is long enough for a day's work, and I am convinced that Mr. Gould will see it.

Here are 450 engineers who ask for a fair arrangement of time and wages. IF THE ROAD DOES NOT MAKE THE CONCESSIONS THEY REQUEST, THEY WILL STRIKE.

But I don't think that George Gould wants a strike, and I do not think he can afford to have his men strike. Therefore I think that there will be no trouble.

The firemen are behind the engineers in this affair. Mr. Wilson, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, is expected in New York this afternoon. He will meet with us.

I shall have a conference with Mr. Gould as soon as possible.

At a secret conference in the Broadway Central Hotel this afternoon the Grievance Committee of the "L" engineers urged Assistant Grand Chief A. B. Youngson, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to order a strike at once that will tie up all the Manhattan Elevated Company's lines.

The firemen were represented at the conference and promised

THIRD DEATH AT THIS CROSSING. KILLED BY BOY ON A BICYCLE.

Three Deaths in Four Days on Long Island Railroad Near Winfield. Stewart P. Stone Was Struck by Wheel of Frank Ten Broeck, of Asbury Park.

William Miller, dairyman, of Elmhurst, was today the third victim of the Long Island Railroad Company at the Maurice avenue crossing, near Winfield, in four days.

Three deaths are attributable to the fact that the company has no gates at this crossing. It has no flagman there, but runs trains at a high speed.

Miller was crossing the track in his milk wagon, when the fast Patchogue Express, drawn by engine No. 15, struck the wagon, killed the horse and threw Miller forty feet. When picked up by the train, he was dead.

Henry Prior, a New York attorney living in Winfield, and Andrew Paltzig, a wealthy and retired hotel-keeper of Winfield, were crossing the tracks at the same place when they were struck by an express train four days ago. Paltzig was killed instantly and Prior died in St. John's Hospital, Long Island City. Prior's horse, valued at $1,500, was also killed.

Residents of the neighborhood of these accidents say that repeated petitions have been sent, asking the company to put in gates at the crossing and to employ a flagman. No reply has been given to the petitioners. Repeated accidents have occurred in the last several years. At this point there is a long stretch of even track and express trains usually go at a rate of speed approaching fifty miles an hour.

The coroner has not yet acted on the deaths of Prior and Paltzig, and it is likely that he will now make the investigation more thorough. Agents for the railroad have already been endeavoring to settle with the relatives of the three men who have been killed.

The cases are made more serious by the fact that the train which killed Prior and Paltzig went on through without stopping after striking them. Witnesses say that members of the train crew looked back and saw the two bodies lying where they had been thrown by the train, and then sped on.

BLOODHOUNDS IN SEARCH FOR MISSING YOUTH

Force of Men Fail to Trace Millionaire Ogden's Son, so Dogs Will Be Used.

GONE SINCE MONDAY.

Wandered Away from Home While Ill and Supposed to Be Lost in New Jersey Swamp.

(Special to The Evening World.)

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 7.—An effort will be made to secure trained bloodhounds for the purpose of tracing young Wilberforce Ogden, the son of Millionaire William Ogden, who disappeared from his summer home at Chatham on last Monday night.

The anxiety of the young man's relatives and friends in Newark, where he makes his home, is nerve-racking.

The Passaic River and nearby ponds have been dragged, every road is being watched and the searching parties are fighting their way through the wilderness of the great swamp near the Ogden home.

Dr. Leslie Ward, vice-president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, who also has a summer home at Chatham, has engaged a special staff of men to participate in the search.

Eugene Unger, a wealthy Newark Jeweller, has ordered all the men employed on his estate at Chatham to assist in the work.

Several months ago the young man returned from the Vermont Theological Seminary much broken in health. Melancholia had developed as a result of his brooding over his failure to finish the required course of study. Immediately upon his return home his father had an attendant go with him.

After a short treatment he showed signs of improvement and became so contented that his nurse permitted him to be alone Monday night.

During the night he rose, dressed himself and disappeared. The next day a milkman reported seeing a thin, child young man wandering about in the Orange Mountains.

Young Ogden was one of the leading players in a local tennis club and assisted in the founding of a social organization known as the Men's League. All of Mr. Ogden's friends have joined in the search, but no trace of him has yet been found.

Many of the commuters on the Lackawanna Railroad, residents of Chatham, have abandoned business to aid in the search.

It is feared that young Ogden has wandered into the Great Swamp, in which case there is little hope that he will be found alive. The rain of the past week has flooded the lowland section and death from drowning or exposure would almost certainly result.

SEEK MAN WHO KILLED THORPE

Detectives Hot on Chase After Tout Who Murdered the Turfman.

The man who beat to death William H. Thorpe, manager of the Road Drivers' Association Clubhouse, in an Amsterdam avenue car early Tuesday morning has a deep and long cut on the back of his right hand.

This is the best mark for identification which the police have yet secured. It was given by Charles Gerlich, a laundry employee, who lives at No. 442 West One Hundred and Sixty-third street, and who rode downtown on the same car by which Thorpe's assailant escaped. This witness was found by Detective McGinty, of the West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street station.

One of the light check suit boarders the same car he did just after the assault and that he had a long and deep cut on the back of his right hand, from which the blood was flowing freely. While in the car the man could not stop the flow of blood and he went to the back platform and held his hand over the dashboard.

The police believe that the cut was too severe to be healed so soon, so they are looking for a man who has either a cut or a bandage on the back of his right hand.

Capt. Titus, of Detective Headquarters, hurriedly dispatched Detective-Sergeant Manahan today to find a certain race-horse follower with whom Thorpe quarrelled ten days or two weeks ago.

"L" STRIKE IMMINENT.

After the strike conference at the Broadway Central this afternoon Vice-President Wilson, of the Brotherhood of Firemen, said to reporters: "You had better get cards printed 'We walk.'" This apparently indicated a decision for "L" strike.

BIG MAN THREW LITTLE MASTER OUT OF WINDOW.

Herman Broskey, who weighs less than 120 pounds, ordered Patrick Barry, who weighs more than 200 pounds, to work faster in the wrecking of the building at No. 222 West Forty-ninth street this afternoon and Barry objected to the manner in which he was addressed. Broskey told him he could quit work and Barry picked up Broskey and threw him out of the window and down to the street, a distance of two and a half stories. Barry escaped and Broskey was taken to the Roosevelt Hospital. His left leg had been broken.

TWO MEN HURLED FROM WAGON BY A CAR.

John Farrelly, forty-five years old, of No. 25 East Fifteenth street, and Nicholas Leroy, fifty-two years old, of No. 675 East Fifty-sixth street, were thrown from a wagon this afternoon which was struck by a trolley car of the Union Railway Company at Third avenue and One Hundred and Forty-fourth street. Each received several bruises and scratches and were sent to the Lebanon Hospital.

WEALTHY RELATIVES MAY CLAIM HIS BODY.

Mrs. Stella Robinson, a widow, who keeps a boarding-house at No. 342 West Twenty-ninth street, has asked the police and the Department of Charities to aid her in communication with the relatives of George W. Rodemer, fifty-one years old, who died in her house from heat prostration. Mrs. Robinson says that Rodemer has wealthy relatives and her object in the search for them is to save the man from being buried in Potter's Field.

CHILD MURDER IN NEWARK.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 7.—A case of child murder was discovered by workmen sent to locate an obstruction in a sewer at Thirteenth avenue and Twelfth street to-day. The obstruction was found to be the body of a six-months-old girl baby. The child had been strangled. The police have a clue as to the murder and expect to make arrests to-night.

TWO KILLED IN FEUD FIGHT.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 7.—Jim Highpeach and Brooks Carter were killed, John Carter is supposed to have been seriously wounded and a man of the name of Richmond was shot through the wrist to-day in a fight in Jackson County, resulting from an old feud between the Carter and Lynch families of that section.

FIFTY NEW PATROLMEN NAMED.

Police Commissioner Partridge to-day appointed fifty new patrolmen.

THE WINNERS.

Favorites Have Bad Day at Saratoga—Swift-ness Wins Catskill Stakes—Mollie Brant Disqualified.

(Special to The Evening World.)

RACE TRACK, SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Only one stake featured the card at the Springs this afternoon, and that was the Catskill, a cheap selling affair that would have looked better on a programme at Aqueduct than on the card at aristocratic Saratoga.

The racing, nevertheless, promised to be exceptionally brilliant, since the overnight events had a class of entries that were stake quality and of a high degree.

Crack Sprinters Run.

In the opening handicap there was a very fine class of sprinters. In the second race much disappointment was felt at the withdrawal of the Western crack Articulate, who was billed to meet Sombrero, Leonid, Col. Bill and others of fair quality. It looked a good spot for Articulate, but his owner did not think so. The other races were so good that they made ample amends for the few disappointments.

Track in Good Shape.

One agreeable disappointment was the state of the track, as it was in excellent shape. The air was cool and crisp here to-day as it is in October, and a high wind drove out all of the moisture left from the rain of yesterday.

The parade of coaches and runabouts began on Union avenue at 1.30 and kept up until the grand stand was filled with fashionable from the swell hotels and cottages. The attendance this year has been far in excess of any previous year and the prediction that the $3 entrance fee would be a bugbear has not been found true. Saratoga pleasure-seekers will pay double that amount. Money is of no use in this community except to spend.

In the sixth race, as the horses were rounding into the stretch, Wax Candle bolted, crashed through the fence and Jockey Martin was thrown out on the track in the path of the field of horses. On examination Martin was found to be unhurt.

SAY HE FILED FALSE LIEN.

(Special to The Evening World.)
SARATOGA RACE TRACK, AUG. 7.—It was reported here to-day that George Gould was negotiating for the purchase of the entire Mackay stable. This rumor could not be confirmed.

The Mackay horses are still at Sheepshead Bay, with Charley Hill in charge, and Mr. Madden, who had a careful and skilful on exhibition to-day, could not verify the Gould story.

Mr. Gould is an enthusiastic polo player, and perhaps may take to the thoroughbreds.

Turmen think the story is likely to prove true.

POLO GROUNDS, Aug. 7.—Perfect weather conditions and the prospect that the Giants might break their prolonged streak of ill-luck brought the fans out in throngs to-day to witness the opening of the Chicago series.

It was good to be out of doors to-day. The air and the sunshine were bracing. On the green the ball tossers showed the effect of the weather and they frisked about like boys on a lark. Good humor reigned in the stands and everything that savored of cleverness was greeted with cheers. The indications pointed to a snappy contest.

Bowman Back in the Fold.

Frank Bowman made his peace with the club management and appeared with the team for preliminary practice. He has paid his fine and promised to be good.

Jimmy Jones, dressed in his store clothes, ornamented the bench until Umpire Emalle appeared. Then the Chesterfieldian James retired to the grand stand.

Manager McGraw gave his batting order another shake-up. Browne was dropped from the top down to Jones's position and the honor of starting off was accorded Wall, the young south-paw, who takes Jones's place in left garden.

McGraw After New Men.

McGraw is on a still hunt for a batting outfielder to fill Jones's place, but the outlook is not promising. Advances made to some of the big leather-swatters of the American League developed the existence of a strong prejudice against contract-jumping.

First Inning.

Cronin tossed Jones's boulder to first. Slagle was given first on balls and pilfered second. Chance hit the air three times. A passed ball put Slagle on third. Dobbs took first on a peep. Advances made to some of the big leather-swatters of the American League developed the existence of a strong prejudice against contract-jumping.

Second Inning.

Lauder's speedy assist headed Lowe out on a grounder. Jones's low throw. Schaefer too tried in vain to find the ball. No runs.

McGraw took first on a peep. Advances made to some of the big leather-swatters of the American League developed the existence of a strong prejudice against contract-jumping.

Third Inning.

McGraw's assist finished Williams. Lauder threw Jones out. Slagle's single and a steal and Bresnahan's low throw. Slagle took first on a peep. Advances made to some of the big leather-swatters of the American League developed the existence of a strong prejudice against contract-jumping.

Fourth Inning.

Dobbs walked on four wide ones, but died on second on Lauder's assist of Tinker's bunt. Lowe's walk to Smith forced Tinker at second. Browne was under Kling's drive to left. No runs.

McGraw walked, but died trying to steal second. Brodie uncorked a single to left, but met McGraw's fate when he tried to pilfer. Wall drew a pass, but Lauder raised a high fly to left. No runs.

Fifth Inning.

Wall gathered Schaefer's drive. Williams punched a neat single over Slagle. Jones put the ball right in Browne's hands, but he wouldn't hold it. Slagle forced Jones from McGraw to Smith. McGraw retired Chance unassisted. No runs.

Sixth Inning.

Lowe disposed of Smith's high boulder. Cronin put up a high one for Chance. Browne's crash was too hard for Tinker, but he did like all the rest on an attempted steal. No runs.

Seventh Inning.

Williams punched a neat single over Slagle. Jones put the ball right in Browne's hands, but he wouldn't hold it. Slagle forced Jones from McGraw to Smith. McGraw retired Chance unassisted. No runs.

Eighth Inning.

Ninth Inning.
